DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ochiai et al. [US 5,565,966] in view of Kobayashi [US 5,666,620].

Regarding claims 1-4, Ochiai et al. discloses a magnetic roller [40] formed of a material of at least 50-90% ferrite magnetic power resin [column 5, lines 12-25].

Ochiai et al. disclose the instant claimed invention except for: the roller resin being foamed.

Kobayashi disclose a roller [20] using a foamed resin coating.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the foamed resin design of Kobayashi for the roller of Ochiai et al. for the purpose of improving the application and conservation of toner in an developing device.

Regarding claim 8, Ochiai et al. discloses the use of carbon filler in the binder [column 5, line 17].

Art Unit: 2832

Regarding claims 9-10, the specific ratio of filler and resin would have been an obvious design consideration based on the specific operating environment.

3. Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the first embodiment of Ochiai et al., as modified, as applied to claims 1-4 above, and further in view of the second embodiment of Ochiai et al.

The first embodiment of Ochiai et al., as modified, disclose the instant claimed invention except for: the use of Nylon in the resin.

Regarding claims 5-6, Ochiai et al., as modified, discloses the use of nylon-6 [column 7, lines 53-column 8, lines 1-2] used in the resin.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use nylon in the resin of the first embodiment of Ochiai et al., as suggested by the second embodiment of Ochiai et al., for the purpose of improving strength.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ochiai et al., as modified, as applied to claims 1-2 above, and further in view of Lee et al. [US 5,019,796].

Ochiai et al., as modified, disclose the instant claimed invention except for: the filler being strontium.

Lee et al. discloses a magnetic roller using strontium.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use strontium for the magnetic filler of Ochiai et al., as modified, as suggested by Lee et al., for the purpose of improving magnetic coercivity.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
